

Create Your Own Mischief Maker inspired by the Vikings

Oxford
Children's Books

In Riddle of the Runes a thrilling Viking mystery series by historian Janina Ramirez, the main character Alva is a young detective and shield maiden, who is fierce, curious and a little bit mischievous too.

The Vikings were mischievous folk, who even had a god of mischief and mayhem called Loki – a cunning trickster and shapeshifter.

Now it's your turn to invent a Viking Mischief Maker...

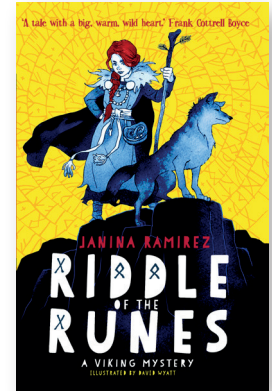

Give your character a name _____

What pet do they have? _____

What skills do they have? _____

Describe something mischievous your character would do

What do they look like? Draw a picture below

In Riddle of the Runes Alva has a pet wolf called Fenrir and her uncle has a crow called Hraf.

Are they a fearsome warrior, shield maiden or detective? Or do they have other skills?

Now you know a bit more about your character why not write some adventures for them?! To find out more about Alva's adventures pick up a copy of Riddle of the Runes!