

Weather for Wonka

Willy Wonka needs to know what the weather is going to be like before he sets off in the Great Glass Elevator. Can you predict the weather for him and write a forecast?

Look up the category for ALL ABOUT THE WEATHER in the Oxford Roald Dahl Thesaurus to find words to describe various types of weather. Then choose words to fill in the blanks below.

This morning will be _____ and _____ .

On the coast, there will be some _____ overnight.

Tomorrow, there could be _____ and _____ .

But we can look forward to _____ weather at the weekend.

Now draw a picture of a weather map in the box below and add symbols and labels to show the weather patterns in your forecast. For example, your map might show blustery storms in one area and overcast skies in another.

You can draw a map of your own area of the country, or a map of an imaginary place like Loompaland or Giant Country.

TODAY'S WEATHER

Discover a world of lickswishy language and unlock your inner splendiferous storyteller, just like Roald Dahl

Also available

@OUPChildrens

www.oxfordowl.co.uk/roald-dahl

©2019 The Roald Dahl Story Company Ltd/Quentin Blake

OXFORD